I advise domestic and multinational companies and strategic and financial investors, in acquisitions and disposals, joint ventures and other corporate deals, and have advised on several major cross-border transactions, involving listed and unlisted companies, in the industrial, banking and financial, energy and services sectors.

I regularly advise primary gaming concessionaires operating in the gaming sector as government licensees. I have also gained significant experience in the sectors of infrastructure and construction, having assisted some major Italian general contractors in transactions over several jurisdictions.

Before joining Fieldfisher, I worked at one of the Big Four accountancy firms.

I advise my clients in Italian and English.
