I have broad experience advising on a range of direct and indirect taxation disputes. I work with all industry sectors, and both companies and private individuals.

I have particular expertise advising on employment taxation issues, including IR35, and property taxation issues, including SDLT and Business Rates.

In addition, I have extensive experience advising on complex and high value professional negligence claims relating to tax.

I have a proven ability to provide clear concise advice that is understandable and intelligible to both legal and non-legal audiences. I have been praised for providing "grounded, nuanced, realistic" and "focused" advice.

I am also a member of Fieldfisher's specialist IR35 team.
