I provide comprehensive advice in all areas of real estate law, in particular on domestic and cross-border real estate transactions, project developments, project and real estate financing, residential and commercial tenancy law and private and public construction law.

My clients are private and institutional, national and international investors and project developers. They include companies primarily from the retail and hotel/leisure sectors, but also from the entertainment media, telecommunications, technology and life sciences/healthcare sectors.

In advising my clients, I attach particular importance to target-oriented and practicable solutions, taking into account their legal as well as economic needs.

I advise clients in German and English and am also fluent in Thai.
