At Fieldfisher I advise private and institutional as well as national and international investors on domestic and cross-border real estate transactions. I have extensive knowledge especially in the fields of private and public building law as well as private and commercial tenancy law.

My focus is on providing advice on the acquisition and sale of existing properties and real estate project developments including legal due diligence, especially commercial leases. Furthermore, I am concerned with drafting and reviewing commercial lease contracts and litigation issues in connection with the asset management.

Within the scope of asset management, I am particularly concerned with the review and drafting of commercial leases.

I joined Fieldfisher in February 2019. Previously I worked for a law firm in Hamburg specialized in real estate law.

I advise my clients in German and English.
