I am a Partner in the derivatives team with over 10 years' experience in advising clients in the financial services sector on trading documentation, structured trades and regulatory issues relating to derivatives. I also head Fieldfisher's asset management focus group.

I advise clients including global investment banks, emerging markets banks and hedge funds on all product types, including structured equity, credit and funding transactions. I have extensive experience of deal contingent derivatives transactions and finance-linked hedging arrangements.

I manage an experienced team that helps investment funds and asset managers with their derivatives and repo trading documentation (including ISDA Master Agreements, credit support documents, GMRAs, master confirmation agreements, master netting agreements and prime brokerage documentation) ensuring that negotiations are handled as efficiently as possible.

As a result of event-driven repapering (such as that required to document regulatory initial margin requirements), I have led a number of large scale documentation projects in recent years.

What others say...

“ I wanted to say specifically thank you for all of your help and the laughs over the past six months. It has been an absolute pleasure to work with and get to know you ”
