My clients include consumer electronics manufacturers, social networks, online payment providers, cloud vendors, medical devices manufacturers, and tech multinationals. I have broad experience with retainer, project and ad-hoc work for US, Asian and European clients. I am a seasoned external data protection officer (DPO) and have worked in academia as well as the German Federal Ministry of Justice.

I represent clients in proceedings with local privacy regulators. Clients rely on my pragmatic support when it comes to GDPR implementation, compliance programmes, international data transfer, cybersecurity, breach notification, development of data driven products, employee privacy, direct marketing, data protection impact assessments, and contract negotiation. I regularly advise on overlaps with other regulatory areas such as consumer protection and telecommunications law as well as online youth protection and audiovisual media regulations. I provide training and speak at events and webinars.

I advise clients in German and English.
