I am a Director in the Corporate department and a member of the firm's Russia & CIS Group. I regularly advise clients on cross-border corporate transactions, including mergers and acquisitions, joint ventures and equity fundraisings, particularly in the natural resources and financial services sectors.

Being a native Russian speaker and a dual-qualified English solicitor and Russian advocate, I specialise in advising clients from Russia, Ukraine and Kazakhstan on English law matters. I am part of the team that regularly advises shareholders and management of LSE-listed companies operating in the CIS region on corporate governance and listing requirements.

I recently assisted on a project involving investment in an oil business in Russia by a foreign government-owned corporation and advised Gazprom group companies on the sale of their UK subsidiary, the holder of an onshore production licence, to a strategic buyer.

I have further experience in dispute resolution, having worked on a number of complex and high-value litigation and arbitration proceedings involving Russian, Ukrainian and CIS companies and individuals.

I hold law degrees from the Moscow State University and from the London School of Economics. Before joining the firm, I practiced law in the Moscow and London offices of a large international law firm.

In my spare time, I enjoy practicing yoga and spending time with my family.
