I advise domestic and multinational companies, either industrial and financial investors, in acquisitions and disposals, joint ventures and other corporate deals, including cross-border transactions.

I regularly provide legal assistance to domestic and international clients in the technology, media and advertising sectors.

I assist domestic and, mainly, foreign clients in litigation pertaining to information technologies and intellectual property rights protection matters, with reference to all the typical ordinary and urgency proceedings.

I have significant experience in the renewable energy sector, having assisted several major private equity funds focusing on the energy field.

Before joining Fieldfisher, I worked at one of the largest Italian firms engaged in multi-professional assistance and integrated consultancy, belonging to one of the Big Four accountancy firms 'networks.
