

PARTNER, PRIVATE CLIENT

Peter Golden

I head Fieldfisher's Private Client group, a team recognised by Legal 500 as "one of the best when it comes to representing the tax interests of household names and ultra high net worth individuals". In my previous role I headed up the Trusts practice as a Partner.

I work for a wide range of clients including individuals, families, trustees and companies; specialise in providing clients with tax and trust advice including family governance and succession planning.

I have a particular expertise in advising complex multigenerational international families. I have significant experience of creating offshore structures including establishing offshore trusts, incorporating private trust companies, providing detailed advice on family governance structures and the uses of companies limited by guarantee.
