Having completed my training contract at Beale & Co, I am now a Solicitor in Fieldfisher's Construction and Projects team.

I work and advise on a variety of construction projects and claims.

My experience includes advising on a variety claims in respect of construction professionals (including architects, surveyors, approved inspectors and engineers). I have acted for both claimants and defendants in single and multi-party litigation.

I have worked on a wide variety of construction claims ranging from small fee claims to high profile construction and engineering disputes both in the UK and internationally. I have experience of proceedings in the Technology and Construction Court, the Dubai Courts, as well as mediation, arbitration (both domestic and international) and adjudications.
