I am a corporate tax lawyer with over 15 years' experience advising on a wide variety of corporate tax and VAT matters, particularly taxation issues in the context of acquisitions and disposals of public and private companies, and also the taxation of corporate groups, real estate and investment funds, and tax investigations and disputes.

I am a solicitor and a chartered tax adviser. I have served as an officer of the taxes committee of the International Bar Association for the last four years.

I have written articles in a variety of publications, including Taxation, the Tax Journal, and PLC magazine, and I speak regularly at international conferences on tax matters.
