Throughout my professional career, I have been able to participate in important procedures of collective dismissal and internal flexibility, due diligence procedures, as well as in all kinds of judicial procedures. I also have extensive experience in advising foreign clients in both German and English in the field of Spanish labour law.

I studied Law at Pompeu Fabra University in Barcelona and took some courses at Bonn University in Germany. I also studied for a Master's Degree in International Law at the ISDE and a Master's Degree in Labour Law at the Bar Association of Barcelona.
