I have been qualified to practice law in State of Pennsylvania in the United States since 2016 and in China since 2007. I am expected to become a qualified UK solicitor in 2021-2022 (past first stage of UK QLTS (MCT) in 2020).

I obtained my LL.M. in Taxation degree from Northwestern Pritzker School of Law where I not only gained a firm understanding of US federal and international taxation, but also developed my special interests in tax aspects of corporate reorganization, multinational enterprise transactions, private equity investment, and cross-border tax disputes in particular.

By leveraging our global network at Fieldfisher and collaboratively working with our teams across UK and EU, I believe that we can provide our clients high quality legal services on cross-border taxation, cross-border investment, international trade and capital markets.

Prior to joining Fieldfisher, I worked for a leading UK international law firm's Joint Operation Office in Shanghai for two years. During this period, I mainly participated in Hong Kong IPOs and Bond Issuance projects. In addition, I gained litigation experience and provided legal advice to domestic companies as an outside counsel during my early career in China.

I am a Chinese (Mandarin) native speaker, and am fluent in English.
